IN ASSOCIATION WITH

THE EXPERIENCE

A moment within your wedding

Not a buffet, but a hosted ritual. Your guests discover exceptional caviar through elegant pairings, served throughout your celebration.

1

We arrive and set the scene

The cart, dressed to your celebration, with ice service, mother-of-pearl spoons and full setup.

2

Your guests are guided, not served a plate

Several elegant passes through the evening, each pairing introduced and presented.

3

Champagne, vodka and luxury bites

Optional beverage experiences and signature creations circulating among your guests.

Five exceptional caviars

A top-down view of a round, shallow metal bowl filled with small, round, greenish-yellow beads, likely a type of candy or confectionery. The beads are densely packed and have a slightly glossy, textured appearance. The bowl is set against a light-colored, possibly marble, background.

A top-down view of a circular gold-rimmed tin filled with dark, glistening caviar. The caviar consists of numerous small, round, dark grey beads with a slightly reflective surface. The tin is set against a light-colored, possibly white, background.

GOOD TO KNOW

Your questions

How far in advance should we book?

Where do you travel?

How long does the service last?

Do we need an alcohol licence?

Can you cater for dietary needs?

How do deposits work?

How far in advance should we book?

We recommend at least three weeks: our caviars are sourced fresh for every event. For peak wedding dates, earlier is always better.

We work with planners, venues and creative partners to bring House of Ossetra to their clients' celebrations.
